I believe that several problems affect the actual society.

Among them we find the racism, for example, in the Spain racism against Moroccans is notable. Very many organizations help this people for the great future.

We find the unemployment, for example, in the Argentina the rate of unemployment is very big. The workers day by day campaign for a worthy job.

Other problem we find is the climate change; the government and Greenpeace association generate publicity raising awareness about this problem and its complications for the future.

In the actuality, a big quantity for problems affects the society and we are us that we must change them.
